"But the Georgia Convention, without denying this great principle, seems to think that the constitution of Kansas ought not to be submitted to a direct vote of the people in their primary capacity. We admit that this is not in all cases a sine qua non. It is a fair presumption (if there be no circumstances to repel it) that a Convention of delegates chosen by the people will act in accordance with the will of their constituents. When, therefore, there is no serious dispute upon the Constitution, either in the convention or among the people, the power of the delegates alone may put it in operation. But such is not the case in Kansas. The most parties so evenly balanced that both claim the majority, and so hostile to one anoth-'enough of niggers,' or utter the opin-on that there was other property be-sides niggers protected by the Constitu-the contest. Under these circumstances there can be no such thing as ascertaining "The lie is cast, Douglas is gone—hook and line—bob and sinker—over to he Freesoilers. Four years of niggers have surfeited him, and his stomach is turned against National Democracy," there can be no such thing as ascertaining clearly and without doubt the will of the people in any way except by their own direct per in any way except by their own direct expression of it at the polls. A constitution not subjected to that test, no matter what it contains, will never be acknowledged by the people of the contains, will never be acknowledged by its opponents to be any thing but a fraud. A plausible color might be given to this assertion by the argument that the members Shall We Vote or Not Vote! Shall We Vote or Not Vote!

THIS IS A QUESTION OF GREAT IMPORtance. My own opinion is that we ought not to vote: but this difference of opinion will by no mans prevent me from selling all the goods I can to those who see fit to vote under the infernal apportionment act of the bogus authorities, hitherto repudiated by all our friends.

Supposing, however, that the voters will vastby outnumber the non-voters, I have made especial arrangements for their accommodation, not in the way of voting, but in the way of supplying them with GROCERIES and PROVISIONS at the Learenworth and Kansas prices.

The attention of the settlers on the Neeshe, Osage, &c., is particularly called to this arrangement. Osage, &c., is particularly called to this arrangement.

On or about the 1st of October I shall take possession of my new store, which is of solid stone, with brick front, thus affording an excellent opportunity for refuge in time of war, and is three stories high and sixty feet long. My object is to well at wholesale at precisely the same as the Leavenworth wholesale stores, with the addition of freight from Leavenworth here.

This will enable the distant settlers to obtain their supplies, without being being absent from home more than half as long as if they went to Leavenworth.

Full particulars when the Store is opened.

FOR THE THIRD VOLUME,

Herald of Freedom LAWRENCE, KANSAS TERRITORY G. W. BROWN, and A. WATTLES, Editors

The Herald of Freedom, the oldest Free State paper published in Kannas Territors, was established in the Autumn of 1854, and is new in its third volume. Its projector had been the publisher of an end-pendesi news journal for several years in western Pennsylvanis, which was which they acted could gain nothing by country in collision with him, but that everything might be sacrificed by a blind opposition to federal authority.

They looked over the country, as we the violence and bloodshed of the year previous, the desointion caused by war, and the extreme sufferings incident thereto, and they resolved to exert all the influence which their position and caergies could command to prevent a like occurrence.—
Though malice, calumny, vituperation, and all the baser instrumentalities of bad men, have been employed to its injury, yet the paper has continued to increase in circulation and influence, until it has now a weekly circulation of nearly 8,000 copies, more than 1,000 of which are to single subscribers in the Territory of Kanenz, its influence in restraining the passions, in preventing civil strife, and in inspiring confidence at home and abroad is second to no other journal. Its reception is everywhere hailed with pleasure by its thousands of interested readers, sere by the few politicians whose tops of preferenced to dependent on a prolongation of our Kanens struggles.

There is not a locality in Kanens where the Healed of Freedom is generally circulated, where its policy is not fully approved. That a few men disappointed in their hopes of effect, have demonsed it, is very true; and that others, who see in it an obstance to the success of their substition, are laboring to wrest from it its well carned harries, is also true; but it is seed true that it is opposed by any considerable number of its patrons, either in Kanens or outside of it.

The pensioned letter-writers of the castern press in Kanens, found it in the way of their promulgating falsehoods, hence, as early as February last, they entered into a conspiracy to write it down. From that time to this, nearly every later they have sent to their respective journals has abounded with the mest infamous misrepressentations in regard to us, and yet our journal has continued to prosper and increase in popular favor.

In looking ov

and anisher was issued. It continued to be published with great regularity, until the destruction of his office, in May, 1856, when the editor was imprisoned, and the paper was temporarily suspended. Through the exertions of Mrs. Brown, and the generous contributions of the friends of the cause in Kansas, the paper was revived on the lat of November, 1806. Since that time, with the exception of three weeks in March it has been regularly issued.

The plan adopted by the publisher for restoring freedom to Kansas, was not by anti-alsvery agitation, nor a crusade upon Southern institutions, but by developing the resources of the country, and encouraging boms fide emigration from the States, believing that interest and early education would result in the exclusion of slavery from the Territory.

Devoted from youth to the Union of the States, and with implicit confidence in the ultimate triumph of the attour, he never turned aside from his purpose. At times his journal was violently assuiled for its conservation, and the Garrisonian abolition press, with the Liberator at its bead, denomined it in unmeasured terms; while the pro-elaverr press, because of its violent denunciations of the invaders from Missouri, and its unrelenting devotion to the Free State cause, decounced it as an abolition affair, and when the leaders of that party could not suppress it by other means, its delice was imprisoned and the press destroyed.

With its revival and the addition of Mr. Wartess, as one of its editors, who had been long known to the partituding the propertion with Janes G. Binskey, in the establishment and publications of the Philamthropiat, nearly a quarter of a century ago, in Cincinnati, and who had continued a devoted and active friend of the cause down to the present, it was deemed proper to let by genes be by genes as far as pessible, and togoto work spain with as little acrimony as possible, to invite among us a far as pessible, and togoto the future destines of the Territory.

As both of the editors had always opposed
